Clay, a most malleable material, takes form through sculptural and ceramic art with surfaces holding unlimited possibilities. Hand-built, thrown, or used in combination with mixed media, clay expresses moods -- dynamic or still, representational, classic, abstract, or conceptual. Clay speaks!

"This show is a survey of some of the best clay work being done in Colorado by established and newer ceramists. This exhibit shows the breadth and diversity of ceramics including earthenware, stoneware, and porcelain; wheel thrown and hand built; functional and non-functional; wood-, gas-, electric-, and raku-fired; glazed and unglazed." --Peter Durst
